Project: Maple Block Community Garden and Workshops

Maple Block Neighbors is a fictional community group seeking $20,000 to create a small shared garden and offer six free gardening workshops. The fictional Maple Community Foundation will act as its nonprofit fiscal sponsor.

Community need and participants

The scenario assumes residents have limited access to shared gardening space and affordable outdoor learning activities. The project will welcome local residents of all ages, with a target of 60 unique participants. Activities will be open to the community without an admission fee.

Activities and timeline

Months 1-2 after award: confirm site permission, coordinate accessible access, and purchase materials. Months 3-4: assemble raised beds and prepare planting areas. Months 5-10: deliver six free workshops and community planting sessions. Months 11-12: document results and arrange ongoing volunteer maintenance. Site permission is a planning dependency, not an approval asserted by this sample.

Funding use

The $20,000 request covers garden materials, workshop supplies, equipment rental, venue costs, and direct workshop delivery. The accompanying project budget details every cost. No funds are requested for political campaigns, religious worship, or personal expenses.

Expected results

Create eight raised garden beds, deliver six free workshops, and engage at least 60 unique residents within 12 months of award. Track attendance and gather brief participant feedback. These are proposed project targets, not claimed historical results.
